JUNE BRIDES.

SEVERAL of my letters lately have confided the tenderest of secrets to me. They were letters which breathed the perfume of a dainty trousseau and the secret was the happy announcement of a forthcoming wedding. I closed my eyes to see the little brides, filmy white in lace and satin, smile at me as I read between the jaunty lines the heart throbs of joy and promise.

"Now that I have met Jack," one girl's letter begins, "I am trying so hard to learn to cook and keep a neat, attractive little home. But how I do wish I had not been so broom and dustpan lazy in the past! I would be more worthy of him, for I am sure he is the best and the noblest man a girl was ever lucky in winning—and, I assure you, Miss Pickford, he deserves the right kind of a wife."

I know that one entering upon marriage in such an honest, aspiring frame of mind as this little correspondent will develop into the type of housewife who is becoming traditional with us. But so many girls marry without any such realization of the responsibilities of married life.

"If you really, truly love your husband and he loves you," I often hear them say, "everything else will be all right."

Of course that is true to a great extent, but it isn't wise to put too much of a strain upon love.

I have often heard it said by women who are sages wise that the wife who is a careless, disinterested cook is quite a bit to blame if her husband turns from his home to the bar around the corner. Lacking proper nourishment, he seeks stimulants instead, and many homes have been ruined because the wife was not well posted as to her duties.

Another thing which drives men away from home is an untidy house or a slatternly wife. The husband who has married a girl because she is dainty and sweet tempered feels he has been wantonly cheated when she stores away that daintiness in a camphor chest, takes to spotty kimono and becomes a termagant.

A successful marriage is a matter of give and take, the wife's loving sacrifices to the husband, the husband's devoted sacrifices to the wife. "One must not thrive at the expense of others, and the girl who marries, determined to have her own way in everything, is preparing great unhappiness for her future."

It has only been lately that we realized that woman's work in the home, when properly performed, is an economic factor of as great value as the husband's work as wage earner. Soon this knowledge will spread universally, and when it does come to be more generally comprehended.

From choir boy to burlesque star may seem a far cry, but it is his ability as a singer that got for Frank Rogers, stage director and leading man of the Lyceum Stock Company, his start in the show business.

Rogers is a native of California and has played in moving pictures on the coast. He has been in musical comedy and the "legitimate" drama, and he also played in the large vaudeville houses, as well as a season with the famous burlesque and profitable field, and for some years has been playing in that line. At the present time he is planning to go on one of the big burlesque wheels next season, having recently signed a contract.

Rogers has been working hard since his appointment to the stage management of the Lyceum Company to produce plays that would be different from the ordinary burlesque. He believes in good, clean comedy, and it has been his constant effort since taking charge of the Lyceum to present only clean shows, avoiding anything suggestive in either the lines or incidents of the show.

Student Breaks His Neck.
Wilmington, June 15.—Thomas R. Marshall, of Georgetown, Del., a Junior at Delaware College, Newark, who was injured in wrestling match with Herbert F. Waldin, a freshman, at the alumni reunion on Tuesday night, was found today to be suffering from a broken neck. It is not believed he will recover.

The world's highest powered motorship has been built in Italy for the Brazilian navy. Its oil motors developing 6,400 horsepower.

hended women will consider seriously this matter of preparing for their life's work.

The duties of the home should be systematized just as the work in an office, and women should realize that cheap, poorly performed labor is the dearest and hardest in the run of futile years.

Of course I, who have lived among professional leavers all my life, don't hold that every woman's only place is in the home—that is impossible for the woman with a career or fired by the divine accident of genius. But many of these same professional women find time for homemaking and the raising of beautiful families.

It is so difficult to follow a demanding public career and raise your family that we are firm in believing women should be freed from performing arduous tasks while they are performing that divine service to their race. But there should be no obstacles in the way of the woman who studies for her future, planning the career she is best fitted for. If she is destined a business woman and not a housekeeper, as long as she is not a drag to her husband, but a helpmate, working for their common interests, her career should be respected.

And no happiness is so potent as that happiness for which we pay the greatest price, laurels we have earned and deserve.

Answers to Correspondents.

H. T. F.—Mary Miles Minter is now with Mutual. Probably your letter care of Metro will be forwarded to her.

B. A. R.—Audrey Munson played the leading role in "Inspiration." I do not believe she has appeared in other pictures.

M. A. L.—Marguerite Clark is still with the Famous Players. No, we never appeared in a picture together.

Olga T.—Have your synopses carefully typewritten and send them to the scenario department of any reputable moving picture company. Always enclose stamps to cover their return. Do not set a time limit—some companies keep scripts for consideration longer than others.

Berthe M.—Edna Goodrich played the leading part in "Armstrong's Wife." She is now with Moscoro Photoplay Company.

Georgine W.—No, I would not advise you to dye your hair. It makes a girl look very much older and is no more attractive than blond hair.

Frank Rogers, Leading Man of Lyceum Stock Company, Got Initial Training at Church.

Placing a tentative valuation of $6,314,000 on the estate of the late John R. McLean, financier and publisher, the American Security and Trust Company, executor and trustee of the McLean will, yesterday petitioned the District Supreme Court for letters of administration. The will was admitted to probate by Justice Stafford, who authorized the trust company to administer the estate.

The valuation in the petition was upon District real estate, personality, and stocks and bonds, the worth of which was placed at a minimum. The trust company declares it has not learned the value of properties in Ohio and Illinois.

The personality, consisting of household furniture and effects, is valued at $50,000. District real estate, $1,100,000, and cash in bank, $32,500. Stocks and bonds are "in excess" of $5,000,000, the petition declares. No mention of the testator's newspaper holdings is given in the petition.

The petition for probate was presented to the court by Attorney J. J. Darlington. Attached to the petition was a waiver of Edward B. McLean, the son and only heir of the financier, who consented to the appointment of the trust company as administrator.

A WORLD FAMOUS BOOK
With Selections Made by 50,000 People.

Fifty thousand people made their choice of the best things they ever saw in print, of the things they couldn't get along without in their daily lives, of the things that gripped them so hard they couldn't bear to part with them, and sent them to Joe Mitchell Chapple, who was offering prizes for these very things. The result was "Heart Throbs"—the two volumes now being distributed by this paper, almost free. In these volumes are many "old friends" long since forgotten—whose acquaintance will be revived with whoops of joy. Many new ones, likewise, whose friendship will be a precious acquisition to be cultivated to one's dying day. There is something to be said of these books that can be said of no other book ever printed: there is not a dull line in their thousands of pages; not a stupid thought nor an ignoble sentiment. They will endure for years because you will never tire of reading them from one year's end to the other. Our coupon, printed elsewhere in this paper, is thus nearly a free pass to endless hours of delight. The only regret we can ever have is that our supply may not hold out long enough to satisfy all our friends.

CONFEDERATE REUNION TO EFFACE PREJUDICES

Adj't. Gen. Mickle Says Gathering Here Next May Will Wipe Out Last Vestige of 1911 Feeling.

A letter received by the three local trade bodies from Adj't. Gen. William E. Mickle, chief of staff of the United Confederate Veterans, indicated clearly that the Confederate reunion to be held in Washington next May will wipe out the last vestige of ill-feeling between the North and South. Gen. Mickle's letter, copies of which were received by the Chamber of Commerce, Board of Trade and Retail Merchants' Association, contained the following paragraph:

"In addition to the fact that those who fought so gallantly against the flag in the '60s are the guests of those against whom they fought, they now recognize it as their flag and are ready to do and die for it as they were for the Stars and Bars in the distant past. We are one people with one flag and one aim. Let the world know this."

Gen. Mickle's letter was a formal acceptance of the invitation extended to the veterans by the local trade bodies to meet in Washington. It is probable that the trade bodies and all local organizations of Southerners interested in the reunion will meet jointly in the near future and organize a citizens' executive committee to handle the reunion.

It is estimated that approximately 200,000 visitors will be in Washington during the reunion.

Aid Danbury Hatters.
All over the country yesterday organized labor contributed toward the fund that will preserve the homes of and satisfy a judgment of $250,000 awarded against the Danbury hatters. On January 27, unionists were called upon to contribute an hour's work to the cause, but only $122,135.55 was raised. It is hoped that the balance was raised yesterday by similar methods, but it will not be until Saturday that the Federation of Labor will know the results of the second appeal.

Gas Men in Parade.
The largest display of any local utility corporation in the preparedness parade on Wednesday was made by the Washington Gas Light Company, headed by its president, Howard S. Reeside, representatives from the directorate, and all the general officers of the company. The delegation embraced all the departments of the organization, to the number of 500 men. Marching music was furnished by Feldman's City Park Band, of Baltimore, numbering thirty-one pieces.

IMMORAL MOVIES ON WANE, SHE DECLARES

Mrs. Emma S. Shelton Tells W. C. T. U. Saloons Decrease as Film Houses Enter a District.

The immoral moving pictures had been reduced from seventy-five to eight percent of the total output, and that in the districts where he "movies" entered, the saloons decreased, was the message brought by Mrs. Emma Sanford Shelton, president of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, from the convention of the National Federation of Women's Clubs, held in New York from May 24 to June 2, to the afternoon session of the District W. C. T. U. quarterly convention, held yesterday in Wallace Memorial United Presbyterian Church.

Among others who took part in the program were Mrs. Lauretta Kress, Rev. J. Alvin Campbell, Mrs. William E. Andrews, Mrs. T. A. Williams, Mrs. Mary E. Brown, Mrs. O. B. Brown, Mrs. T. A. Williams, Mrs. Jessie Neetzel, Mrs. Clayton, E. E. Emig, Rev. G. Ellis Williams, Mrs. E. S. Henry, Mrs. J. W. Allison, Mrs. Harriet D. Hill, Master Chester Ellis, and Mrs. Annie E. Grady. Miss Lillian Williamson was elected secretary for the coming year.
